November 7 - December 8, 2025
@The Cotton Factory in Hamilton, Ontario, Canada

This group exhibition aims to explore the integration of technology into historically handmade practices and how manufacturing and digitalization is changing the landscape of contemporary textile/fibre arts and societal perceptions of applied technology. Materializing imagination and finding expression for stories has been the nature of humans driving evolution. Textiles hold and carry our history of being in this world and through the innovative minds behind textile & fibre art creation we will discover forms of the future.
